Know Your Provider Enrollment Revalidation Due Date Today and Protect Your Bottom Line!

Revalidate before your due date to avoid a hold on your Medicare payments and deactivation of your Medicare billing privileges.

There are several ways to find your revalidation due date:

- Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services \(CMS\) Revalidation List Tool
  - Search by National Provider Identifier (NPI) or name.
  - A due date of "TBD" (to be determined) means a revalidation due date has not been assigned by CMS.
- You can access the YouTube video, "How to use the CMS Medicare Revalidation Tool"
- Revalidation notice mailed by National Government Services
  - Mailed in yellow envelope
- Internet-Based Provider Enrollment, Chain and Ownership System \(PECOS\)
  - Sign in with user ID and password.

Generally, the due date will remain with the provider/supplier throughout subsequent revalidation cycles. So you will not have to wonder about the due date the next time you need to revalidate.

NOTE: Unsolicited applications received seven months prior to the revalidation due date will be returned to the provider.

Need assistance? Providers and suppliers can register for our provider enrollment webinars by either using the following links, Part A/Part B or by visiting the NGSMedicare.com website.
